

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) Awareness

The increase demand for sustainability is changing the way we run business. Environmental Social and Governance (ESG) appeared to be the measurement for sustainability and ethical impact of an investment in a business or company. This is a course for participants to learn about ESG and sustainability. Participants will learn how to better prepare themselves for the carbon tax 2026.

Objective

1. To identify the gap in the existing sustainability and ESG practices.
2. To identify the risks and opportunities for organization.
3. To learn how to integrate sustainability/ESG into management strategy.
